How much did you pay for a jar of Ragu this week? $1.58? $1.59? $1.73?

When it comes to competing for the American consumer's dollar, perhaps no one industry is as competitive as the supermarket industry. A glance at recent advertising from three of the areas supermarkets, Goretti's, Shaw's (landoli's), and the Big D Supermarkets shows headlines boldly proclaiming, "You'll Love Our Everyday Prices..." (Goretti's), "Our family feeds your family for less!," (Big D), and "We've Got The Lowest Prices By The Thousands!," (Shaw's).

We decided to price a random list of 30 brand name items from these three supermarkets for comparison purposes. These particular supermarkets were chosen for their proximity to Millbury and Sutton which make them the logical shopping choices for area residents.

The stores visited were the Big D Supermarket on Rte. 20 in Auburn, Goretti's Supermarket on Riverlin St. in Millbury, and Shaw's (landoli) Supermarket on Southbridge St. in Auburn. Pricing was done at all three supermarkets on either March 11 or 12. The regular weekly price of each item was taken regardless of the fact that some of the items chosen may have been on sale that week. Only brand name items were chosen for accuracy in comparisons.

Many other factors enter into the choice of a supermarket and most shoppers will favor one over another for a variety of reasons, including prices, service, quality of meats and produce, and cleanliness.

We offer this comparison for those readers who have always been curious as to whether or not there really is a major difference in pricing among the area's major supermarkets.

Urge Support of Toxic Use Reduction Bill

To the Editor:

Respiratory disease is one of the most rapidly increasing forms of death in the U.S. today. Yet, industrial accidents and unregulated emissions continue to throw billions of pounds of gases, particles, and vapors into the air we breathe, 15,000 liters of them each day. There is an impending catastrophe caused by pollutants in our air which demonstrates the need for a nationwide program to deal with toxins before they destroy a nation. There are so many potentially disastrous toxins in the atmosphere that scientists do not know where to begin, and offending industries continue to drag their feet concerning progress because their main priority is personal cost factor.

Massburn incineration, which is the burning of refuse to generate electricity, has become one of the 'hottest' new industries in America. It is also one of the most controversial and brings with it a host of new environmental concerns. Contamination, including acid gases, toxic metals, particulates, and organic compounds in the garbage during combustion are released into the air by this process. Wheelabrator in Millbury is considered the most up-to-date of its kind. Critics of such plants charge that deadly dioxins are being released by the incineration process, and they are correct. Cows grazing not far from the plant already have traces of it in their milk. How much dioxin is "safe" for a child to ingest daily? The answer to this horrifying question is unknown. Some Shrewsbury residents fear that ash from the plant's incinerators could pollute private water supplies. The answer again is left dangerously and callously to the future in a rainbow of colored smoke spewing itself across the sky from the Wheelabrator tower and imbedding itself into the soil in the form of ash and particulates.

A toxic-safe nation lies with those who care enough to take action. We must prepare ourselves to accept changes in lifestyle because we have only two choices: 1. to delude ourselves into thinking that our present course is safe and sane and that we will not inherit solemn consequences from the easy way out, and 2. to begin solving the problems which threaten us with massive cancers, respiratory and immune disorders; threaten our ozone layer, our vegetation and our water supply, indeed, our very survival. Serious thought must be given to ridding ourselves of plastics. They are not made from biodegradable products and burning them produces deadly dioxins. We must eliminate massburn incineration as we now know it by a prudent separation system and recycling methods. We must phase out extremely harmful toxics in industry. The less toxic use we have, the less need for costly pollution control devices by industry. (On this issue you can begin right now by contacting your legislators in support of House Bill #1749. It is the Toxic Use Reduction Bill.)

Our deep thanks to the Millbury Public Library for acquiring for us "The Toxic Cloud," by Michael Brown, which we used as a source of information; and to Masspirg for House Bill #1749 which it introduced for legislative action.

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

"On-Going Saga of the Dog Van" reaches conclusion

By Edward J. Cooney

MARCH 8, 1988

MILLBURY - Chairman Jude Cristo began the meeting at 7:05 p.m. with members Roland Lachance, Wynton Adams, John Donnelly, and Donald Gauthier present. Minutes for the February 16 and 23 meetings were approved with minor corrections on a 4-0 vote.

- Mary Brodeur, of Forrest Drive, a candidate for the Millbury Housing Partnership Committee, was present to be interviewed. Ms. Brodeur, in her remarks, noted that that she may be interested in purchasing an affordable home under this program.

Cristo suggested that, based upon the statements of a previous appointee, Donna Lebel, a conflict of interest may exist.

Administrator Earl Chase reported that Ms. Lebel, who last week raised the question of a possible conflict of interest because of her pro-affordable housing position, told him that she checked with the Worcester Housing Program and the State Ethics Commission and received conflicting answers.

A Worcester Housing Program spokesperson stated that there didn't seem to be a problem because several persons had served on similar committees without the problem of a conflict.

According to Chase, the Ethics Commission indicated to Ms. Lebel that a conflict of interest may exist. The Commission stated that they will check into the matter and report back to her.

The board agreed that it would be more appropriate to wait for an opinion from the Ethics Commission before endorsing Ms. Brodeur's nomination.

Cristo then called for Chase's weekly report.

- Chase started his report with the topic of "The Ongoing Saga of the Dog Van." He stated that he had made two contacts in an attempt to acquire a suitable vehicle for use by the dog officer over the next three weeks. By that time, the school van should be available, according to Chase. One option involved the rental of a station wagon for a fee of $420 a month plus mileage. The other option noted was the possible use of the police department's unmarked vehicle which is scheduled to be traded or turned in.

Adams asked how critical the unmarked car is to the Police Department. Chase replied that they could get by without it. "I think they could survive."

Hy Sclar, a resident in attendance, offered a station wagon for the use by the dog officer. He stated that he would give it to the town for $1.00. "It is in good running order," said Sclar.

Cristo stated that the board was looking for a vehicle that the town would not have to regis-

Introducing the Transformer Mortgage
Because rates that go up, can come down.

If mortgage rates that go up can come down, why lock into a high fixed rate now?
With the Transformer Mortgage from Fidelity Co-operative Bank, you don't have to. The Transformer lets you pay a low adjustable rate now or lock into a fixed rate security at your option. You can keep your adjustable rate until fixed rates are lower, and convert to a fixed rate at no cost to you anytime between the first anniversary and the fifth anniversary of your loan, or lock in a fixed rate up to seven days prior to closing. The decision if and when to lock in is yours. That's the Fidelity Transformer advantage.

ter for such a short period of time, but he told Sclar that the board would keep it in mind.

The board finally decided, on a 5-0 vote, to use the unmarked car as a temporary measure until the school van is available.

- In another matter, Chase retracted a previous informational item which suggested that Millbury's telephone prefix would be changed to "855." He emphasized that it will remain "865."

- At 7:30 p.m., the board interviewed Patricia Moore, a Millbury resident who resides at 27 Grafton Street, as a candidate for appointment to the Conservation Committee.

Ms. Moore spoke of her strong interest in serving the town and noted that she is presently pursuing her degree in natural science. Her appointment was approved on a 5-0 vote.

- The meeting then returned to Chase's weekly report. Chase informed the board that no date has been set for the next Comprehensive Permit Hearing by the Zoning Board of Appeals. "The hearing stands postponed," Chase said. He also noted that abutters will be notified of the next hearing. "Once the developer acquires the Mass. Housing Finance Authority Site Evaluation approval, then they will start again."

Adams asked, "Are you sure they don't have to advertise?" Chase stated that he will check with town counsel for confirmation.

- Chase asked board members if they had reviewed the Bereavement Policy for the four positions under their authority, and asked for their comments. Adams stated that he had no problems with the policy but noted that it was more restrictive than the other policies negotiated with the union. He asked Chase if the draft had been discussed with the people involved. Chase indicated that they were aware of the draft.

Adams moved to adopt the policy as written. Lachance asked Adams what he meant by "more restrictive." "Future boards may challenge that. I don't see why we should be more restrictive," Lachance said.

Chase replied that it was less restrictive than the Local 495 negotiated policy.

Lachance replied with "tongue in cheek," "Mr. Chase is out of order. He is writing his own policy."

Cristo replied, "He drafted it. We have the final say."

Adams stated that future boards can amend it. "It shouldn't be a concern." The motion was approved on a 5-0 vote. Cristo asked Chase to inform the persons involved and to send a copy to the Personnel Board.

- Chase's final report to the board concerned an application for grant money to be used to help support the Youth Activities Center and related programs. An application for $7,800 has been submitted to the State for the funds.

- Cristo then turned to "Old Business" agenda items.

Under "Appointments," the board voted 5-0, with regrets and appreciation, to accept the resignation of Jodi Manna from the Conservation Committee.

Terry Burke-Dotson was presented as a recommendation to the board to replace the former Town Planner as the Planning Board's representative on the Water Study Committee. The board approved on a 5-0 vote.

- A brief discussion ensued on a request by Adams to consider ways to provide up-front funds to reimburse the Lions Club in preparation for the 175th anniversary celebration. A special town meeting to be held the same night as the annual town meeting was suggested.

Chase also noted that funds to pay for costs relating to the second year of contracts would not be available until the new fiscal year unless a special town meeting is held. He indicated that the funds would be needed before the end of this fiscal year or some departments will be shortchanged.

Adams asked if Chase had identified monies to be used only to support funding under union contracts or if there were other areas such as excessive overtime. Chase replied that budgets had been reviewed by him in that context. Adams stated that unforseen overtime could be handled by a transfer. He suggested that articles submitted to the Special Town Meeting be limited to those articles needed before the end of the fiscal year.

On a motion by Adams, unanimous approval was given to calling a special town meeting.

- Cristo noted that the downtown parking lot will need regrading this Spring. Donnelly concurred, noting that there are potholes and low areas which will require gravel and regrading. Cristo suggested that Chase check with the Highway Surveyor to have the work done.

- Chase informed the board that the bids for the South Main Street Bridge and the Dog Kennel construction are under review by consultants.

- According to Chase, Articles for the Asa Waters Mansion and Herricks Lane will be on the warrant for the town meeting.

- In addenda items under old business, the board voted 3-2, on a motion by Gauthier, to stop the pay of Police Officer Sprague who is on "Injured on Duty" status, in an attempt to force a hearing and a decision from the Medical Panel which has yet to hold a hearing and review. Adams and Cristo voted against the motion, indicating that they were not sure of the motion without checking with counsel.

- Under New Business, the board voted 5-0 to grant a license to deal in antiques to Bob Courtney, at 12 Providence Street. Courtney purchased the former Providence Street School for the purpose of selling and renovating antiques.

- The board refused to approve a permit for a street opening on Beach Street at Bengston Lane, as requested by A. Amorello & Sons, agents for Bengston Lane Estates. Board members based their decision on reports that the road was dug up that day, closing off half of Beach Street, to make a correction with the main sewage line on Beach Street.

According to Chase, Amorello was told they could not begin work without a permit. Cristo told Chase to inform Amorello that work was to stop until a permit was issued. The board voted 5-0 to close the work down.

A check of the work area on the following day, Wednesday, showed that the trench and work had already been completed. Work on Bengston Lane had been started and lines installed and backfilled for approximately 30 feet.

- Under addenda items for new business, Adams moved to send a letter of congratulations to recognize the achievement of Millbury High students and their teacher, Roger Desrosiers, in winning the State Finals competition relating to the Constitution. Approved on a 5-0 vote.

Lachance moved that a similar letter be sent to the Millbury High Basketball Team and their coach for winning the Clark Tournament.

- A letter of commendation was placed in the personnel file of Sgt. Edward Perry. The letter, from Richard Townsend of the Millbury Savings Bank, cited Sgt. Perry's professional efforts in recovering funds within a week's time.

- Hy Sclar, of the Redevelopment Authority, requested that the authority be included on committees established by the board in the future. He noted that the authority has been working in several areas and could be of assistance to various committees.

Cristo suggested that Sclar inform members of the Authority that they should notify the board in writing of their interest in serving on committees.

Several letters of correspondence were read by Clerk Donald Gauthier.

One letter, received from a Mr. Ball of Mill Street in West Millbury, brought out several minutes of discussion.

Ball requested the board's assistance in fixing a problem with water leaking through the dam or pond located on Mill Street near his property.

Lachance stated that the problem involves a leak which keeps the pond at a lower level. He also explained that the pond is critical to the West Millbury area in the event water is ever needed to fight fires that may occur in that area of town. He also noted that it was private property and that the problem should be resolved by the two parties concerned.

Lachance then suggested that the highway department fix the leak by dumping stone to block off the problem area.

Mr. Ball also requested that something be done about an old mill in the area that is falling down and in a dilapidated state. It was noted that some of the building has already been taken down.

The board voted 5-0 to send a copy of his letter to the Building Inspector and the Board of Health for review and a recommendation.

"Green Barn" to be Renovated for Retail Space

By Jim Douglass

SUTTON - The March 7 Planning Board meeting opened with John Ritchie, Mary K. Connor, Kris Oliver, and Craig Ferrell present. After reviewing the mail, the board approved the minutes of the February 22 meeting. Other business included the following:

- A subdivision was approved and recorded that had originally been approved and recorded in 1967. Bobby Fairbanks-Poulin had sold her Keith Lane house and purchased a house in Maine with imminent simultaneous closing dates. She discovered, through a title search, that her property lines had never been recorded following a 1967 sale. To her relief, the board approved and signed a duplicate of her present lines 21 years later.

- A right of way was recorded on a Pleasant Street property. Frank Couture sought to legally gain a right of way across his grandmother's adjacent property to insure access to his own land. The right of way was recorded by the board with a notation that his own lot was not buildable as the right of way recorded was too small for that purpose.

- An eight-lot subdivision in the Rawson/McGuire Road area was approved. A notation was attached to the plans stating that the developers must resolve whether water can be drawn from the Whitinsville Water Company and that the approval "Does not connote zoning determination."

- A special permit was issued for a free standing sign on property owned by Jim Fitzpatrick on Route 146 in Sutton. Fitzpatrick sought the permit to make his business visible to passing motorists. The board approved with the condition that he reduce the size of the sign by a small amount.

- The site plan for the Burnap Industrial Park was reviewed. The park, owned by Jack Virgilio, will be fronted on Rte. 146 by a mini-mall and a nine-lot subdivision where JJ's lounge presently sits. Virgilio will own the park, the mini-mall and the subdivision. The board had no objections to Virgilio's plans.

- The renovation of a building on Rte. 146 was approved by the board. The building, owned by G.M. Realty and known to some as the "green barn," has been sitting unused since its last owner had been using it to, among other things, manufacture horse blankets.

The present owners, Melvin Glickman and Leo Moroney plan to renovate the building and make it available to retail stores. The board questioned the small size of the parking lot and whether it would conform to the zoning requirement of one parking space for every hundred feet of retail space. The plans were approved with the condition, put in writing to the building inspector, that if over 7800 feet of retail space is exceeded, additional parking space must be created.

- A discussion of "Clover Hill East," a proposed project which straddles the Northbridge/Sutton town line and includes 19 units in Sutton, was held with Bill McGrath of Cox Engineering. The working meeting mainly covered the issue of a planned retention basin with no conclusions being reached by the board.

- A request for a one year extension of a covenant was heard. The covenant covered work being done by Kenneth Gosselin on Judith Circle off Lincoln Road. The extension was granted with the provision that the first coat of pavement be down in six months.

- The hiring of a shared planner was mentioned by Finance Committee Chairman David Strieby. The new planner, who will serve Sutton, Northbridge, and Uxbridge, is Ted Brovitz, who holds a Master Degree from Duke University.

- The Annual Town meeting has been set for April 16.

MILLBURY ELECTIONS

Going Announces Candidacy

MILLBURY - Richard H. Going, of 216 West Main Street, has announced his candidacy for election to a three-year term on the Millbury School Committee in the annual town election, April 26.

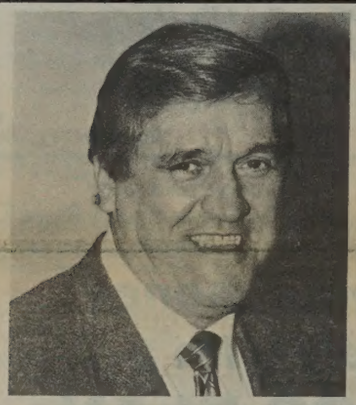
Going is running for public office for the first time.

In announcing his candidacy, Going said that he is running "for the good of the children and parents of children in our school system." He also stated that his primary concern is "the growth of Millbury and the 'questionable' overcrowding potential that unbridled new housing construction creates."

Going is married to the former Joan Smith. They have two sons, Keith and Michael, who attend the Elmwood Street School, and a daughter, Kristen, a 1986 graduate of Millbury Memorial High School.

The Goings have lived in Millbury for almost eight years. They are members of St. Brigid's Parish.

Wilczynski to Seek Re-Election



MILLBURY - Edward R. Wilczynski, of 28 Epping Street, has announced his candidacy for re-election to the Millbury School Committee in the April 26 Town election.

In announcing his candidacy, Wilczynski expressed his desire for continued improvement in areas of basic skills. "Talented students excel and will continue to do so, however, more must be done to prepare other graduates for the years ahead," he said. Wilczynski also stated that he has initiated or endorsed policies during his present three-year term to seek that goal. According to Wilczynski, the policies included the following: drug an alcohol abuse, basic skills testing, AIDS, homework, spelling, and superintendent evaluation.

Wilczynski has been a member of the School Committee for twelve years, and served as a member of the Legislative Committee for the Massachusetts Association of School Committees

He is a former selectman, and stated that he was involved in negotiating Millbury's cable TV contract and the downtown reconstruction. He has also chaired a special Proposition 2 1/2 Steering Committee to prioritize budgeting of Millbury's expenditures.

Wilczynski also announced his participation in the following community activities: President of the Millbury Firefighters Relief Association, Chairman of the Fourth of July celebration, charter member of the Millbury Lions Club, and committee member of Boy Scout Troop 109. He is also a member of the Singletary Rod and Gun Club and Millbury's 175th Anniversary Committee.

Wilczynski is employed by the Heald Division of Cincinnati Milacron in Worcester as a training coordinator and instructor.

A lifelong Millbury resident, he was educated in the Millbury Public Schools and the evening division of Holy Cross and Quinsigamond Community colleges in Worcester.

He is married to the former Doris M. Jackson and they have two sons.

CANDIDATES PLEASE NOTE

A Brief History Lesson...

By Grace Laflash

On June 11, the Town of Millbury will be 175 years old. In conjunction with the celebration of the anniversary, commemorative pins with the official logo chosen by the Executive Committee are available for $3.00. The logo, as shown to the right, depicts three structures: the Library (upper left), the old town hall (right), and the Waters Mansion.

When Millbury separated from Sutton in 1813, town business was conducted in the First Congregational Church at the Old Common, which was then Millbury Center. The church was moved to West Main Street in 1835. Shortly thereafter, a section of Millbury Academy, which occupied the site of the Center School, was utilized as a Town Hall and the center of town was changed to its present location. It was not until 1880 that a new town house was completed. It stood where Centerview Apartments now stands at 95 Elm Street. This grand old building was destroyed by fire in January of 1971.

The Asa Waters II Mansion was constructed prior to the advent of the canal and the railroad. Two years were required to gather materials: brick from Baltimore, marble from Italy, hard pine from the South, mahogany from Central America, and pumpkin pine from Maine. All materials were carted to Millbury. In 1826, the frame was raised after which the Rev. Joseph Goffe gave a prayer and a collation ensued. Asa and his family moved into the new residence in 1829.

Asa was a gunsmith and supplied arms to the government. His armory was located at the site of the V.F.W. on South Main Street.

The Millbury Public Library was built in the cow pasture of the Torrey family who occupied the white, columned house next to the fire station. Mrs. Torrey was the daughter of Asa Waters II. Her own daughter, Louisa Torrey, became the mother of William H. Taft, 27th President of the United States. In later years, the property came under the jurisdiction of another daughter, Delia, who donated the empty lot to the town.

In 1915, the Carnegie Corporation of New York awarded a $12,500 Library Construction Grant to Millbury. The building was completed shortly before August 26, 1916.

Turn off the TV and turn on your child's ears with book cassette kits from the Millbury Public Library.

Thanks to a recent state competitive grant, the library has expanded its collection of book/cassette "read-along" kits for children. Look for these additions in the children's room of the library.

This collection of read-along book/cassette kits are word-for-word narrations of children's books. They include many favorite current and classic titles in children's literature. Each "read along" kit is designed to motivate children to read. It's like having "a staff of engaging storytellers available whenever you need them."

Most importantly, read-along kits help spark the imagination. Each cassette tells a single story. On one cassette side, there are signals, or cues, that tell the child when to turn the page. On the opposite side, the story is read without signals. The reading is paced to allow the child to follow along, look at pictures, and turn pages.

While these read-along kits are fun for kids, they are also educational. Studies have shown that students with good reading habits and language skills are those who have been read to often as children. While read-along tapes are no substitute for an adult reading with a child, they do help fill in a gap when it's not possible.

Other educational benefits of read-along kits are as follows: 1. they assist in valuable automatic work-recognition; 2. they help familiarize children with the general patterns, rhythms and flow of language; 3. they serve as a good model for fluent reading, linking the skills of decoding with natural intonation and flow of langauge; and 4. they teach English as a second language.

Now that we have convinced you that read-along kits are both fun and educational for children, we should also pass along that adults will enjoy listening and reading along too. Here's a listing of just some of the read-along kits that both you and your child will enjoy:

I Know a Lady by Charlotte Zoltow
Watch the Stars Come Out by Riki Levinson (Reading Rainbow Book)
The Paper Crane by Molly Bang
Oh, Kojo! How Could You! by Verna Aarema

Advice to Athletes: substitute an apple for that pre-game candy bar

MILLBURY - Should student athletes eat candy bars before competition for quick energy? Coaches, teachers, and physical education specialists in Millbury schools learned the answer was "no" when they attended a workshop that focused on nutrition for the athlete held for five afternoon sessions in February at the Elmwood St. School. Leading the workshop was Gretchen Simendinger, R.D., nutrition education consultant to the New England Dairy and Food Council. She explained that during weeks of training and competition, athletes can boost their energy stores by choosing extra helpings of foods high in complex carbohydrates. These include whole grain breads, fruits and vegetables.

To help coaches teach their athletes how to eat to compete, Ms. Simendinger provided them with copies of Food Power: A Coach's Guide to Improving Athletic Performance, a new 36-page handbook from the Dairy Council. From the guides, coaches learned that athletes need to eat a high performance diet based on the four food groups: milk, meat, fruit and vegetables, and grains.

Workshop participants gave Food Power high marks for being an easy-to-use reference for answering questions about the elements of balanced pre-competition meals, weight control, and the athlete's need for fluids during competition.

Contained in the guides were master copies of 12 handouts on nutrition topics designed especially for student athletes. Using these fact sheets, coaches can now give athletes practical tips on putting nutrition knowledge to use in day-to-day meal planning and training.

Coordinating the sports nutrition workshop was Dr. David Troughton, Curriculum Coordinator. More than 14 coaches and teachers participated in the event.

Surprise Party!!!

Mrs. Renaud and her daughters (L-R) Doris Gemme and Lorraine Zuidema

Mrs. Theodore Renaud was pleasantly surprised when her family and friends gathered to honor her on her 90th birthday on Sunday, March 13th. Mr. and Mrs. Renaud live at the Centerview Apartments. There was much gaiety midst colored balloons, flowers and a huge birthday cake that was the center of a table laden with goodies.

Mr. and Mrs. Renaud have two daughters, Lorraine Zuidema of Uxbridge and Doris Gemme of Webster, nine grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren, a niece, Mrs. Bertha Lee of Millbury, and several nieces and nephews and grand nieces and nephews. Florida's daughters, her niece Bertha, and Irene St. George, joined the tenants at Centerview in hosting the party.

ST. BRIGID'S WOMEN'S CLUB - The monthly meeting of St. Brigid's Women's Club will be held Thursday, March 17th. There will be a pot luck supper at 6:30 p.m. Please bring your recipes for our Cookbook, along with the recipe for your "dish." Also, please bring a grocery item and attendance prize wrapped for the Scholarship Whist Party that will be held on Friday, April 8th.

SCHOLARSHIPS - Each year the St. Brigid's Women's Club awards two $300 scholarships to a member of St. Brigid's Church. Last year, Miss Deborah Ducharme, daughter of Doris Ducharme, 98 Millbury Avenue, was one of the recipients and she is presently in her first year at Quinsigamond Community College; the other recipient was Michelle Lagor.

It is for these scholarships each year that a special whist party is held with the proceeds used for this purpose.

The date for the Whist Party is Friday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. in St. Brigid's Church Hall. There will be many prizes and refreshments. The public is cordially invited to attend.

CENTERVIEW APARTMENT: tenants are looking forward to a catered Corned Beef and Cabbage Dinner on Saturday, March 19th.

LINDEN APARTMENTS: folks at Linden are looking forward to a Corned Beef and Cabbage Dinner on March 31st. Assisting with the preparations are Rita Woodward and Beatrice Despard, who help with all their special dinners. Dessert for this meal will be Green Pistachio Pudding in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

Happy St. Patrick's Day to you all!!!

Headed for Cornell...

By Rosalie Tirella

As you ride in the freshly painted elevator in Salisbury Laboratory at Worcester Polytechnic Institute with Donald Sullivan, he thoughtfully explains the remodelling procedures that are going on in the lab. He explains why the smell of paint permeates the building and how it could have been avoided. He also details the kind of floor covering that is being installed.

Don, who lives at 46 Colonial Road in Sutton with his parents, Dennis and Jean, is in his Junior (and final) year at WPI where he is majoring in biology. For his Major Qualifying Project, he has been conducting research on Messenger RNA (a ribonucleic acid that carries the genetic information required for protein synthesis in cells.).

When he discusses his work with RNA, his retention and recall is impressive. Without checking notes or hesitating, he explains that he is studying the complexes that "splice" and "ligate" RNA. With a playful smile on his face, he says these substances are called "snerps."

The culmination of Don's hard work and research has earned him a Fall acceptance to Cornell University where he will continue to learn new research techniques and broaden his range of scientific interests. Cornell will be paying for his tuition, fees, and living expenses for the next five years. That adds up to approximately $95,000.

Don appears non-plussed. "If you apply to the top-notch grad schools, you're guaranteed tuition, fees and a living stipend." He maintains that Ivy League schools and other first-rate universities receive substantial grants from the National Foundation of Science and therefore have the resources to offer their graduate students a relatively cost-free education.

Still you are amazed. You don't know many people who have been invited by Cornell to work with and learn from the top researchers in the country. The more you talk with Don, the more you realize that you are speaking with a person who has a first-rate mind. He is also soft-spoken, modest and invariably downplays or quietly accepts his sharp mind and accomplishments.

Sitting at a table in the building's lounge, wearing jeans and a sweat shirt, Don offers his thoughts on the research scientist. "A lot of people picture (the scientist) as being very level headed, but you'll find it's the opposite. You get very emotional when you're involved (in research). If you're working in a field, there's always the desire to be the first one to uncover new data....If you want to be a scientist, you have to enjoy the process of finding out, and the nice part about it is people pay you to do it."

Don also discussed the researcher's responsibility to society. "A lot of people think it (research) will have a concrete application; Biology - towards medicine. Researchers don't know how things (their research findings) are going to be applied. Even if (the data) is not used now, it may be used someday. (The scientist's) obligation is to find out."

Don understandably speaks of his future years at Cornell with enthusiasm. He looks forward to the day when he will publish his first paper or abstract. He also hopes to someday work in a university where he will head his own research project and have his own lab. As a researcher, he will also have to teach. This will afford him an opportunity to pass on his knowledge to young men and women who possess the same enthusiasm and dedication to scientific research.

But of course, nothing beats the excitement and joy of discovery. He says his work gives him, "A great sense of accomplishment."

What do Don's parents think about all this? Don says they are very proud of him, and he adds, grinning, "They're very happy because now they don't have to pay for me to go to school."

THE FUEL ASSISTANCE program will end on April 15th. If you want to sign up for fuel assistance between now and then, you must go to Worcester Center, lower level, on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to noon. We are no longer taking fuel applications here in Sutton.

OUR TRIP TO ATLANTIC CITY is filled. We will be leaving Sutton from the church at 7:00 a.m. on April 5th. We will be leaving promptly at 7:00 so please be on time.

THE "FRIENDS CLUB" is having a bake sale and raffle on March 30th. It will be held on the third floor of the Town Hall. They would appreciate any donations of baked goods, candy, or even money to help them to continue their program of helping the elderly. If you would care to donate something for the bake sale, please call the COA office and let us know so that we may plan on what is being donated.

PLEASE REMEMBER, you must call 24 hours in advance if you have need of the van for shopping or doctor appointments. Too many are taking it for granted that they will automatically be picked up.

SPAGHETTI DINNER: on Sunday, April 10, at noon, the Sutton Lions will host a spaghetti dinner for Sutton Seniors at the Dudley-Gendron Legion Post on Boston Road. Please put in your name in the COA office so the Lions will know how many to expect. Last year's dinner was such a huge success and enjoyed by so many, that they have to know in advance how many are coming.
